Once you've installed both R and RStudio:

Create a folder in your Documents folder, download installation_check.R, and move that file into the folder you created.

Open RStudio.

In the upper left-hand corner, click "File"then "Open File". Navigate to the folder you created, and open "installation_check.R"

Follow the instructions included in that file to check the initial R installation, install new R libraries, and check the installation of those libraries.
